

PUTIN'S BLOODY STATE TERRORISM!

Because of the dismemberment of the Soviet Union and Socialism, these are just some of the results of the traitorous policies of Gorbachev, Yeltsin and Putin.

Here are some of the questions the Soviet people and also foreign experts are asking now:

How can anyone justify the wanton murder of civilians by using poison nerve gas that killed more innocent people than the actual hostage takers?

How can Putin and his regime justify the murder of over 175 people plus the hundreds who were poison gassed who are in hospitals and whose nerve damage is such that they could wind up to be just vegetables and never again be well again

How is it that the authorities have found only one body that was shot...the authorities are keeping quiet as to who shot that person, the hostage-takers or Putin's storm troopers?

How is it that the people of Russia saw President Putin in conference with his cabinet on television and he looked extremely nervous, twitching and moving his pen from one place to another on his desk and not issuing a statement to the people, or appointing a mediator with the hostage-takers, as is done in a serious situation as was transpiring at the theatre in Moscow?

How is it that the Russian doctors called to this tragedy did not know that such a nerve poison was used and they could not come up immediately with some antidote medicine to save at least some of the lives?

How come that Putin allowed the use of this poison nerve gas on his own people when it is internationally banned and that Russia signed a protocol against its use?

Why all the fantastic and untrue statements that were aired over TV by Putin's government but in later broadcasts they were denied and new claims were put forward all through the hostage drama?

Why did foreign correspondents started to question immediately the statements of the Putin government? Why did some correspondents unable to make sense of the statements issued by the hostage-takers through their spokeswoman and distributed to the correspondents, while the official statements issued by Putin's government was completely the opposite?

The whole scenario is yet to be unraveled, since Putin has shown his true self to the people, and this is a very dangerous sign for the Russian people.

When the whole truth slowly emerges and the hundreds of people will slowly succumb to the poison nerve gas that was used against them, nothing will save the powers-that-be from the people's ANGER. More and more people in Russia are realizing that the government, which has been releasing many high-flown statements about the struggle against terrorism on a global scale, is in fact useless, since Putin has in this way helped Bush of USA in his plans for world conquest, hidden against the "fight against terrorism".

How many more thousands of Chechens and Russian people must die, because of the policies unleashed by Gorbachev, Yeltsin and Putin?

What does it take to achieve unity of the anti-Putin forces?
